FOR RECORD PRODUCTION

Outlook of the Iron and Steel Industry in the Next Twelve Months.

By Associated Press.
Pittsburg, Pa., June 6.—Despite rumors, in the iron and steel market abroad, as well as in this country, a canvass of the industry warrants the statement that the last half of 1907 and the first half of the year 1908 will witness the largest producing capacity in the history of the United States and Canada.
It is estimated that new furnace constructions will add at least 2,000, 000 tons to the prospective capacity of the country. Last year the total output of all the furnaces was 25, 350,000 tons. It is estimated that new information, which is derived from an official source, should have a depressing effect on the market.
"The cause of the shutting down of furnaces at a time of famine in pig iron," said an expert in the trade, "is well understood by men connected with the business. It is a case of necessity, superinduced by a little lack of confidence last year."
"There were comparatively few persons who had faith in a continuance of last year's activity in the iron market. During the later months of 1906 nearly everybody was willing to admit there would be a reaction in 1907. Producers of pig iron booked orders for this delivery under the impression that the current demand will fall off and rushed production with the idea that there would be plenty of iron this spring and summer for long delayed repairs. This current demand did not occur and as a consequence of overcrowding furnaces all last year, those needing repairs now are more numerous and imperative."

A HAPPY MOTHER will see that her baby is properly cared for—to do this a good purgative is necessary. Many babies suffer from worms and their mothers don't know it—if your baby is feverish and doesn't sleep at night, it is troubled with worms. White Cream Vermifuge will clean out these worms in a mild and pleasant way. Once tried always used. Give it a trial. Price 25 cents.

Good Music and Bad.
What is not always understood by the enthusiasts who listen and do not judge is that nothing in music is good because it is old, or de mode because it is old, or original because it is modern, not a flute note in the "Zauber fote" has been drowned by the thunders of the orchestra of the "Ring," and if any one tells me, as people still sometimes do, that he only cares in music for Wagner, I have a strong suspicion that he does not care for music at all.—Arthur Symons in London Saturday Review.

The faster a man travels the sooner he will get there, and the faster he lives the sooner he will get there too.— Exchange.

REFLECTED GLORY.

It is Just as Much Fun and Less Trouble Than Real Glory.
It is a profound truth that reflected glory is far better worth having than real glory, as far as the actual fun of the thing is concerned. The man who after much struggling has won through to fame knows all the drawbacks to it and realizes that the game is hardly worth the candle. But the man whose only claim to glory lies in the fact that he is an acquaintance of the famous man has a splendid time, getting most of the kudos with none of the disadvantages. We see a great, good man, let us say Algernon Ashton, and we envy him. But we feel that his position must have its disadvantages. The strain of being universal letter provider to the papers of London must be enormous. Far better the lot of the man who merely knows Mr. Ashton and can call him Algy. Mr. Murphy, the orator, supports this view. "It is well," he says, "sometimes in speaking to treat great men's names familiarly.
In bracketing yourself thus with the great men of the world reminds one of an eastern saying that there are only two creatures that can surmount the pyramids, the eagle and the snail." We know of scores of men who have acquired reputations through their friends. It is the simplest thing in the world. The wonder is that everybody does not do it, for it needs but little labor.—London Globe.

THE ISLAND OF FIRE.

Java's Geological Eccentricity The Lake of Boiling Mud.

The greatest natural wonder in Java, if not in the entire world, is the justly celebrated Gheko Kamdha Gunko or "home of the hot devils," known to the world as the "island of fire." This geological eccentricity is really a lake of boiling mud, situated at about the center of the plains of Grobozana, and is called an island because of the great emerald sea of vegetation which surrounds it and gives it that appearance.
The "island" is about two miles in circumference and is situated at a distance of almost exactly fifty miles from Solo. Near the center of this geological freak immense columns of soft hot mud may be seen continually rising and falling like great timbers thrust through the boiling substratum by giant hands and then quickly withdrawn.

Besides the phenomenon of the boiling mud columns, there are scores of gigantic bubbles of hot slime that fill up like huge balloons and keep up a series of constant explosions, the intensity of the detonations varying with the size of the bubble. In times past, so the Javanese authorities say, there was a tall, spire-like column of baked mud on the west edge of the lake, which constantly belched a pure stream of cold water, but this has long been obliterated, and everything is now a seething mass of bubbling mud and slime, a marvel to the visitors who come from long distances to see it.

Foundation of Japan.

Every Feb. 11 is celebrated in Japan the great annual festival of Kigensetsu, the anniversary of the foundation of the empire by the first emperor, Jimmu-tenno, B. C. 660. The Japanese reckon their present era as from this date, and it was on Feb. 11, 1859, that Mutsuhito, the one hundred and twenty-first of the dynasty, promulgated the present constitution of the empire of Japan, the fundamental principle of which is clearly stated in its first article, "The empire of Japan shall be reigned over and governed by a line of emperors unbroken from ages eternal." The organization of a parliament took place in 1890, which in the Japanese reckoning would be 2500 from Jimmu's setting up his capital at Kashiwara, in the province of Yamato, which is regarded by Japanese historians as the beginning of the empire.

A Brave Man.

Nicolas, Chevalier d'Assas, a French captain in the Auvergne regiment, born at Vigan, in the Languedoc, while making a reconnaissance during the night of Oct. 15, 1790, at Klosterkamp, in Westphalia, met a column of the enemy which was advancing in silence to surprise the French army. He was ordered to keep silent or else they would kill him. D'Assas at once cried out, "A moi Auvergne—the enemy is here!" He was killed on the spot.—

Near Glory.

A Misused Wife.

A lady complained to the Willesden magistrate the other day that her husband "wiped his feet on her and walked over her." It is a case of incompatibility of temperament. He should have married a door mat.—London Globe.

Let He Forget.

"I am afraid, darling, you will very soon forget me."
"How can you think so? See, I have tied two knots in my pocket handkerchief."—Meggendorfer Blatter.

HARD FIGHT ON ALLISON

Cummins Wants to Go to
United States Senate
From Iowa.

A special to the New York Sun from Des Moines, Ia., says:

The infirmities of old age will be the basis of the opposition to the re-election of United States Senator William A. Allison. This is made plain by the appearance in several papers friendly to the candidacy of Governor A. B. Cummins of articles to the effect that a younger man is needed. One paper says that Senator Allison "is no longer able to recognize a friend ten feet away."

Evidence is rapidly accumulating, however, that Governor Cummins will have the fight of his life. He has already been served with notice that several congressmen who helped him last year, will be for Allison for senator. Practically every member of the delegation is under obligations to Allison.

George G. Perkins, editor of the Sioux City Journal, who opposed Cummins for the nomination for governor last year, denounced the Cummins senatorial candidacy to-day.

Gentlemen in Court.

At an assize court Justice Maule was engaged in passing sentence on a prisoner when one of the officers of the court annoyed him by crossing the gangway beneath him with papers for members of the bar. "Don't you know," cried the judge, severely addressing the official culprit, "that you ought never to pass between two gentlemen when one of them is addressing the other?" Having thus relieved his mind, the judge proceeded to pass sentence of seven years' penal servitude on the other gentleman.—London
